Though Higashine Shindengen (Higashine City, Yamagata) has been repairing and adjusting some of their facilities since the earthquake, we are happy to announce that the adjustment work was completed on April 19th, and regular production has been resumed from today. This means that all of our production sites in the affected area have been successfully restored to normal.

We would like to express our deepest gratitude towards all the parties for their support and cooperation.

We sincerely hope that the affected area is reconstructed as soon as possible.

Please note that the information above is as of March 24, and our production capacity might be affected by a limited supply of fuel, gas, and rolling blackouts.
